

New Construction in Central Florida

Do I really need a REALTOR to buy a new home?

Did you know that the sales representative on-site is employed by the builder and does NOT represent you, the buyer in the transaction?

Furthermore, there is no risk in hiring your own real estate agent as the commission is paid by the SELLER, not you!

Many times, we are even able to negotiate a BETTER price on new construction homes based on recent comparable sales!

If you want to find out more about the process of buying new construction homes, please do not hesitate to contact us!
